The data collected via all these different eye-tracking techniques are presented to you in a simple and easy to understand form, while their evaluation can contribute to the optimization of your products, avoiding any future changes or even the need to redesign a product. The reports includes: Heat Maps, Scan Paths, Look Zones and Video recording.